COCHRANE JUSTICE.

Nine men, including five Galicians with utterly unpronounceable names came up the other day before Messrs. C. W. Fisher and J. G. Tweed, J. P.s, charged with stealing mattresses from the bunk house at the closed down coal mine of the Exshaw Cement Co. at Mifflid.

All the men pleaded guilty, but the magistrates could not agree upon the punishment to be awarded, and the court adjourned till the next morning, the men remaining in custody for the night. At the opening of the court next day the disagreement still continued, Mr. Tweed contending for such a sentence as would warn these men, and others, that they could not loot unoccupied premises with impunity, while Mr. Fisher insisted that a nominal sentence, which would allow of the prisoners being released at once, was all that the circumstances of the case required. After an unsuccessful attempt to communicate with Mr. Short, the Crown Prosecutor at Calgary, the court again adjourned without coming to any decision. Constable Mehan reported the situation to his chief by telephone and received instructions to turn the men loose and leave the responsibility with the Magistrates, which was forthwith done.

STANDARD'S SOUVENIR NUMBER.

The Montreal Standard's Special Number has come to hand, and is a most creditable production. It has a magnificent cover in colors, painted by one of America's best known artists. The Number contains nearly 100 half-tone plates devoted to subjects of general interest, and has two superb panoramic views of Montreal suitable for framing. The printing is first class, and we understand that many thousands of the issue have been sent to friends abroad.

INDEX TO EXPORTERS.

The export bureau of the department of trade and commerce has announced its intention of compiling an index of Canadian manufacturers, exporters, and producers generally, who desire to extend their trade abroad. Nothing of the kind has ever been attempted before in Canada, and a great deal of work will be entailed in making the list available at all times in advancement of the foreign trade and commerce of Canada. The department will index the names of every exporter from the Atlantic to the Pacific with the goods they sell abroad, and forward it to the Canadian trade commissioners in various parts of the world, where information will be systematically filed.

Sunny Alberta!

Have you subscribed yet?

We learn that Don Mathieson is not so well again.

Constable Basson, of Olds, spent a couple of days here this week.

Miss Louise Colling and Miss Rose, Mrs. Collings sister, left last week for Toronto.

Jas. A. Sutherland has got in a car of baling ties which he will sell at $5 per 100 lbs.

T. H. Glover, T. McLaughlin and L. Cave registered at the Alberta Hotel, Crossfield, last Sunday.

Dr. and Mrs. Bishop have returned from their wedding trip to Seattle Fair and the Coast cities.

Mrs. Garwood has just returned from Calgary accompanied by her sister Mrs. T. J. Borbridge, of Calgary.

A number of guns were out from town early on Friday, the opening day of the chicken shooting season, and bags were fairly good.

Work on the new restaurant opposite the station has commenced. Mr. Sutherland has the contract for the erection of the building.

Mr. Thos. Fitzgerald arrived back from Washington on Wednesday afternoon and will stay some time looking after his interests here.

Father Sinnett, who has been down at Portland, Oregon, visiting Mr. McAnally's mother, has returned and arrived in Crossfield on Thursday afternoon.

E. W. Bell, the "Travelling Sign Maker" spent a couple day's in town putting in some fine work on the glass doors and windows of various business houses.

A social was held in the Methodist Parsonage last night. It was well attended all afterwards adjourning to the church where a number of addresses were delivered.

Mr. Amery and Mr. Stokes returned to Crossfield on Saturday morning. Mr. Amery has spent the summer in England and thoroughly enjoyed the trip.

Jas. McCool brought in a fine sample of potatoes this week which is to be seen at Timmins' Meat Market. It is a pity for Mr. McCool that the Agricultural Show is not to be held as these potatoes would probably have taken a prize.

The Canadian Farm, a new weekly illustrated journal, which is published in the same office as "The Canadian Courier" has reached us. This paper will commend itself to the good judgement of farmer readers as one of the best farm newspapers in Canada.

The Ladies Aid held a meeting on Wednesday afternoon at the parsonage when they enjoyed a pleasant social time. The next meeting will be held on November 3rd in the parsonage also, when a social time will be spent after the business is over.

Messrs. E. and A. Gregory entertained a small shooting party on the First, when eighteen brace of chicken were bagged. Not a bad bag under the circumstances, the party not having a dog. The party consisted of five guns. Messrs. Cavander, McLain, Schofield and the hosts.

BORN.

HAYS.—East of Crossfield, on October 2nd, to Mr. and Mrs. W. Hays, a daughter.

UNFORTUNATE ACCIDENT

On Wednesday night as Mr. May was going over Acme townsite he was unfortunate enough to step into an unprotected cellar which had been dug for the new hotel there. On examination it was found that the leg was broken near the thigh. He was conveyed to Crossfield and removed to Calgary for medical attendance. This was a painful accident and sympathy is extended to him.

Greater attention should be given to the protection of such cellars and also to other openings made in the ground for various purposes, especially when they are in a position that someone is liable to fall into them.

BACK FROM B. C.

T. D. Thomas returned last Tuesday after a visit of four weeks to Seattle and other cities of the coast. Mrs. Thomas went farther south with her daughter and family to spend the winter visiting a son in Tucson, Arizona. He reports meeting Dr. and Mrs. Bishop in Vancouver, he also met Mr. Taylor there last Saturday evening in a city mission which is carried on largely through the help of the students.

He says that B. C. is the greatest and most forbidden wilderness he ever passed through, about 500 miles of high mountains, rugged and perpendicular rocks, frightful canyons, rushing streams, dense forests, and a few patches cleared and made fit for habitation of man. In these spots dairying and fruit raising seem to be the principal industries. He thinks more of Alberta after returning than ever before.

MIXED FARMING.

Wm. R. Ingram, of the Griffin Packing Co., who is making a tour of the West in the interests of his firm, gives the following good, sound advice:

"My idea is this: Every farmer should raise a certain quantity of the grains, vegetables, etc., necessary for feeding hogs and other live stock.

"Grain, especially wheat growing, is as every one knows, uncertain. One year the crop may be magnificent, and the next frost, hail or some other element may destroy them. It is then that the farmer who has been depending upon grain alone will begin a bad plight. On the other hand the farmer who has his cattle, his eggs and other products of mixed farming to fall back on, will be in a comparatively safe position.

"Grain growing and the live stock industry should go hand in hand. The future welfare of the one is dependent upon the success of the other.

"The farm without its live stock loses its vitality and will cease to be highly productive."

That the wheat growing industry is doomed to depopulation, Mr. Ingram sought to prove by relating the experience of the old wheat growing states and provinces.

In Manitoba he pointed out there was a time, twenty years ago, when the average yield of wheat was about 27 bushels per acre, but at the present time the yield is only 17 bushels. Twenty years ago in Minnesota, at one time the greatest wheat producing state of the union, there was a yield of 25 bushels per acre, but now they can only boast of 13. It has been established by the farming scientists that in Dakota the growing of wheat had depleted the fertility of the soil at the rate of $30,000,000 per year.

"The same will prove true of this province of Alberta in time," he commented, "unless we can awaken the people to the fact that they need to keep the soil in a productive state by fertilizing it. There is no better and cheaper means of fertilization than that of livestock."

He continued to point out that in the economy of farming there should be figured cattle and hogs. "There should not be a dairy in the country without its hogs," he asserted. "There was this year in the United States a shortage of 2,000,000 head of hogs, and the shortage in Canada would be proportionate. "This shows that the possibilities in hog raising are very bright," he said.

ADVERTISE.

Failure to advertise is responsible for many failures and discouragements. Advertising is an important department of modern business and cannot be neglected without serious injury to trade. Purchasers of any variety of commodity will go where dealers have enterprises enough to advertise. Vigorous and judicious advertising has been known to make the turning point between failure and success, and in more than one instance has made a store that was losing immediately begin to gain and ultimately yield a good profit.

Advertise judiciously, advertise vigorously, advertise continually. It may make the difference between a losing venture and a profitable investment.

The purchasing public wants to be coaxed. It wants to have the place to buy certain goods pointed out. It wants to hear the news of the stores, consequently it reads advertisements and will go where the advertising seems most convincing and describes the goods most wanted.—Commercial.

The Prisoner's Retort.

It is a private chaplain's duty to give a departing prisoner good advice and to exhort him to be a decent and honorable man in the future. In the course of one of these interviews a chaplain said, "Now, my friend, I hope you'll never have to come back to a place like this."

The prisoner looked at him thoughtfully and then asked, "I say, chaplain, you draw a salary here, don't you?" When the chaplain replied in the affirmative the prisoner remarked, "Well, say, if me and the other fellows didn't keep coming back you'd be out of a job."

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The man who picks up a private letter of a friend and deliberately reads it without permission has long been considered lacking in good manners. A twin brother to this chap is the fellow who deliberately steps up and reads the copy on the printers copy. It is considered the greatest breach of etiquette in the print shop. Intimacy with force does not grant this privilege. Don't do it.—Cottonwood Current.

Certain contemporaries seem to be under the impression that, because a paper supports the Conservative party in Canada, it ought to support the Conservative party in the United Kingdom. The only resemblance between the two parties is in name. Their policies, in the very nature of things, can have no relation to each other. Each country has its own issues, and they are widely distinct.—Victoria Colonist.

There is very little grain being sold at the elevators these days. Farmers do not feel disposed to sell at present prices and they are attending to their fall plowing and threshing.

The memory of the average witness when he breaks into court is either very good or very bad.

If the Cook-Pearcy controversy becomes much hotter it will melt the North Pole.

There may be nothing new under the sun, but there are lots of fresh people.

Bumping up against people who have no curiosity gives the gossip a jolt.

You'll never win if you wait for the other fellow to boost your game.

Court Dwarfs.

Until about five years ago a century ago dwarfs were frequently kept as court toys. Records of them might be multiplied almost indefinitely. Bodo, the dwarf of Stanislaus, king of Poland, lived to be ninety years of age, dying in Paris in 1858, and is variously described as having measured thirty-five inches and twenty-three inches. Julia, niece of Augustus, had two dwarfs, each twenty-eight inches in height, and Henrietta Maria had two whose joint height was seven feet two inches. The Emperor Augustus had a dwarf named Lucius whose height was two feet and weight seventeen pounds. The last court dwarf in England was Coppin, who belonged to the Princess of Wales, mother of George III.

An Isle of Man Oath.

What is regarded as the quaintest oath still in use is that taken by the high court judges in the Isle of Man, the terms of which are as follows: "By this book and the contents thereof and by the wonderful works that God hath miraculously wrought in the heaven above and the earth beneath six days and six nights I do swear that I will, without respect of favor or friendship, love or gain, consanguinity or affinity, envy or malice, execute the laws of this Isle justly between party and party as indifferently as the herring backbone doth lie in the midst of the fish, so help me God and the contents of this book."

Selishness.

Jones worked so hard and denied himself so much in order to pay his life insurance that he had neither the time nor the means to be sick, and he outlived all the beneficiaries, who were meanwhile engaged in the relatively unhealthy business of lying back and waiting for him to die. Moreover, in thinking of the matter he became convinced that he had a good deal of fun, after all—more fun, indeed, than most. "I'm a terribly selfish fellow," exclaimed Jones guiltily.—Puck

Politely Bounced.

A good example of the extremely courteousness in public correspondence was the notice sent to Charles James Fox that he was no longer a member of the government of George III. It read thus: "His gracious majesty has been pleased to issue a new commission in which your name does not appear."

To cast away a good friend is like casting away one's life.—Aristotle.
